creative and media
Cambridge Area Partnership
All of the 14-16 Creative & Media Diploma courses in the Cambridge area are open to students from schools that have included 'Creative & Media' in their list of options. The allocation of places will be dependent on numbers and the availability of transport, as well as students' suitability. Students opting for one of the 'Visual Arts' or 'Media Arts' routes would normally attend the nearer centre.
Every route covers a range of creative and media disciplines, as well as skills of research, planning, reflection and teamwork. However, each route has a different emphasis, and will suit students with particular interests and aptitudes.
CRaM: Visual Arts
The course based at Impington Village College emphasises art, sculpture, animation, photography and graphic design, as well as elements of performance.
CRaM: Performing Arts
One course based at the Parkside Federation emphasises dance, drama, music, set and costume design and technical stage-craft, as well as some video production.
CRaM: Media Arts
Another course based at the Parkside Federation emphasises video production, digital and wet photography, graphic design, and web-authoring.
CRaM: Visual Arts
A third course based at the Parkside Federation emphasises art, sculpture, animation and graphic design, and is co-delivered by Manor Community College.
CRaM: Media & Stage Arts
The course based at Melbourn Village College mixes digital photography, 3D art and video production with stage craft, sound & lighting skills.
